Hello, I would like to greet you all. I wanted to give my children an education so that they could work in society, to be among the Czechs, so that they could find a job, to be respected, for example, I gave Petra to a private law academy. I put Radek in economics school and I wanted to be from Petr and Radek and something. Petr went to law school, but before that we prepared him, he read. We gave him books, he kept reading. It is very important that children have books, that their brains expand, that they have a different idea. I had the same thing, I also tried to raise my children to have reading, education, to be able to clean everything up after themselves, where what belongs, to simply morally in general, to be as it should be. My children, the pattern I gave them, has fruit. One graduated from a private law academy, was also appreciated by the queen. His grandson will go to another college. How I raise them has an effect and it is good that they lead them at home, as I said, both to morality to all this, but also to housework. That means, for example, a granddaughter, the show is doing something in the garden. You can nail a nail, you can cut with a chainsaw and all that. It is very important that he knows everything like this, he is smart, he has an idea and all this. I would very much like parents to be inspired by their parents, to try as well. I would recommend all parents to buy books for children, so it is very important that they lead them in order, to honor the parents, it is very important, that respect has disappeared, so that from the beginning to raise them to do, no phone for a long time not to be on the phone for a long time. They kept track of when he was coming home to know about them, and so on. did you read as I said, this is very important. respect for parents, very important. I would also like to point out that my parents speak to their children in their native language, that is, Romani, so that they can, because I suffered that I did not speak Romani, I did not belong to the Roma anywhere, I did not belong to the Czechs, then it is really missing that then they cannot communicate and have no respect among the Roma. It is very important that they know their history, that they know everything, that is very important. It is good for the children to go to university, because, as I said, they can integrate into society, they will find work. They can choose where they want and it represents both parents and children. You know how proud you are to know that maybe your boyfriend goes to school over there, that you're proud, but he wants it first from the beginning, actually from that seed, as I say, from that seed, to water it, to actually water it, as I say figuratively, so not to give him alcohol, but to give him the knowledge to have its fruit, that is very important. clean yourself, abide by moral laws, both at home and in public, this is very important. As you know, parents, that's why we went here to England, to have a better life here, to have children go to school, to get the education, to make them something. That's why we came here, what we had to endure in order to leave the Czech Republic, where racism, where they have no education, is put into a special school. Think about it, that's why we came here to educate the kids. How happy I am as a parent that one boy did college is represented everywhere abroad. My wife and I are very happy that there really is something out of those kids. I wish you the same,
